

NUTRITION SOCIETY OF INDIA (NSI)

Announcement of 12th Dr. B.K. Anand Memorial Award -2025

The Dr. B. K. Anand Memorial Award instituted by the Nutrition Society of India, in association with B. K. Anand Benevolent Trust, New Delhi, in the year 2014 in memory of Prof. Bal Kishan Anand, an internationally renowned physiologist. The award is given in one of four thematic areas on a rotational basis every four years:

- a. 2025 - Clinical nutrition
- b. 2026 - Community nutrition
- c. 2027 - Physiology and metabolism
- d. 2028 - Experimental nutrition

Call for Applications – 2025

- The NSI calls for applications for the 12th Dr. B. K. Anand Memorial Award to be given during the 57th Annual Conference of NSI to be held at ICMR-National Institute of Nutrition, Hyderabad during 14-15 November, 2025.
- This year's award will recognize outstanding contributions in the field of CLINICAL NUTRITION which includes maternal and child health, adolescent health, chronic diseases and life style disorders.
- The application should be proposed by the two life members of the NSI.

Eligibility criteria:

Age: Above 45 years as of 1st June 2025

Nationality & Employment: Must be a candidate of Indian origin, currently working in India

Field of Work: Significant contributions in the area of Clinical Nutrition

Scientific Merit: Evidenced by

- Peer-reviewed publications
- Research projects handled
- High-level academic achievements

NSI Membership: Must be a Life Member of the Nutrition Society of India

Proposers:

- Two life members in good standing (at least 10 years) must propose the candidate.
- Each proposer should provide a 200-word write-up describing the candidate's suitability, summarizing the key achievements and career trajectory.

Award Includes:

- A gold-polished silver plaque and citation
- Economy class air fare (to and fro)
- Local hospitality during the conference
- An opportunity for the recipient to deliver a 5-minute address during the award presentation.

Application Process:

- Applications must be submitted in the prescribed format by 14th July 2025
- Send completed applications to: nsihyderabad@yahoo.com
- All applications will be screened by the Dr. B. K. Anand Award Committee Members

Sd/-
Secretary, NSI